My first piece of jewelry and some travel pictures with dolls.

Kenilworth Dieadem

found objects from Kenilworth

2005

A piece of plastic and a bullet casing became my first piece of made jewelry. Considering what might have happened with the front end of that shell casing, I had to have a glass of wine before I could put it on the one time I got up enough courage to actually wear it.

In August of 2005 I took my sister Lois up to her job teaching school in Ontario, Canada. Along the way I took pictures of her in random spots along with two dolls clothed by an elderly relative in Lancaster County, Pennsylvania.
